Gugging but also other people who were interested in art an opportunity for development; the studio does not regard itself as an occupational or art therapy centre, but as a place where personal creative potential is fostered.

In 2006, Museum Gugging was opened by Johann Feilacher and Nina Katschnig. The museum is devoted to the works by the Artists of Gugging, and offers fascinating insights into international Art Brut and other graphic arts through is special exhibitions.

In 2011, the House of Artists underwent enlargement and renovation. Since its enlargement, the process of painting the outside of the building has continued: up to now, Johann Garber, Karl Vondal (born 1953), Arnold Schmidt (born 1959), Günther
